

Biff's Match Book Set

Saturday, 27 January 2007

There were several sets of match books used. They all featured Biff's name on the front and different phrases on the back that directly related to different timelines. The initial phrase was "Auto Detailing" and later, "Pleasure Paradise." The third version shows the ripple in the timeline with a transition between the two phrases. Although not seen on-screen, I have a version of the match book with nothing printed on the back.

The off-white match books are prototypes. One was obtained from and signed by Tom Wilson.
